Structured Teaching - Updated

Structured teaching is a visually based approach to creating highly structured environments that support individuals with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) in a variety of educational, community, and home/living settings. Structured teaching is associated with the Treatment and Education of Autistic and related Communication Handicapped CHildren (TEACCH). The goal is to create an environment that promotes independence. This module will define and describe structured teaching.

OCALI certifies that every page of this module was visited, that sufficient time was spent on the module to engage the subject, and that the participant completed a pre- and post-assessment as part of the module. In addition, the participant answered the attached questions regarding the module content.
